Welcome to Daval

We believe curating a home is the greatest way to self-express, which is why all our fitted kitchens are designed bespoke and made to order.

Over the next few pages, you'll see kitchens that have been carefully curated to inspire you and kitchens that make your individual ideas possible.

They will help you consider design features and what styles might work in your home, but ultimately, our approach to creating your dream home allows you to celebrate the best materials, techniques and build quality, all with a distinctly British attitude.

As a family-run company, we are immensely proud that every kitchen is made at our factory in West Yorkshire, in the same valley where the business was founded in 1978.

Welcome to Daval. Welcome to quality British craftsmanship.

Oakley

Oakley is a beautifully classic inframe kitchen with British influences at the heart of its design.

Exuding an imposing air of sophistication, Oakley's subtle-but-striking features can include a cock bead detail to the frame and an elegant profile to the inner of the doors. Optional chunky island pilasters, pull-out oak dining trays and angel mantels finish Oakley perfectly to create a classic and timeless British kitchen.

Pair Oakley with a painted finish with antique brass hardware for a contemporary take, or choose an unpainted finish to appreciate every detail of the depth of Oakley's woodgrain.

Our kitchen has quite literally changed the way we live. We chose Oakley to sit alongside and enhance the architecture and design of our Georgian property, and it is perfect. The detail of the cabinetry is stunning and is both statement and subtle in beautifully equal measure.

Bramham

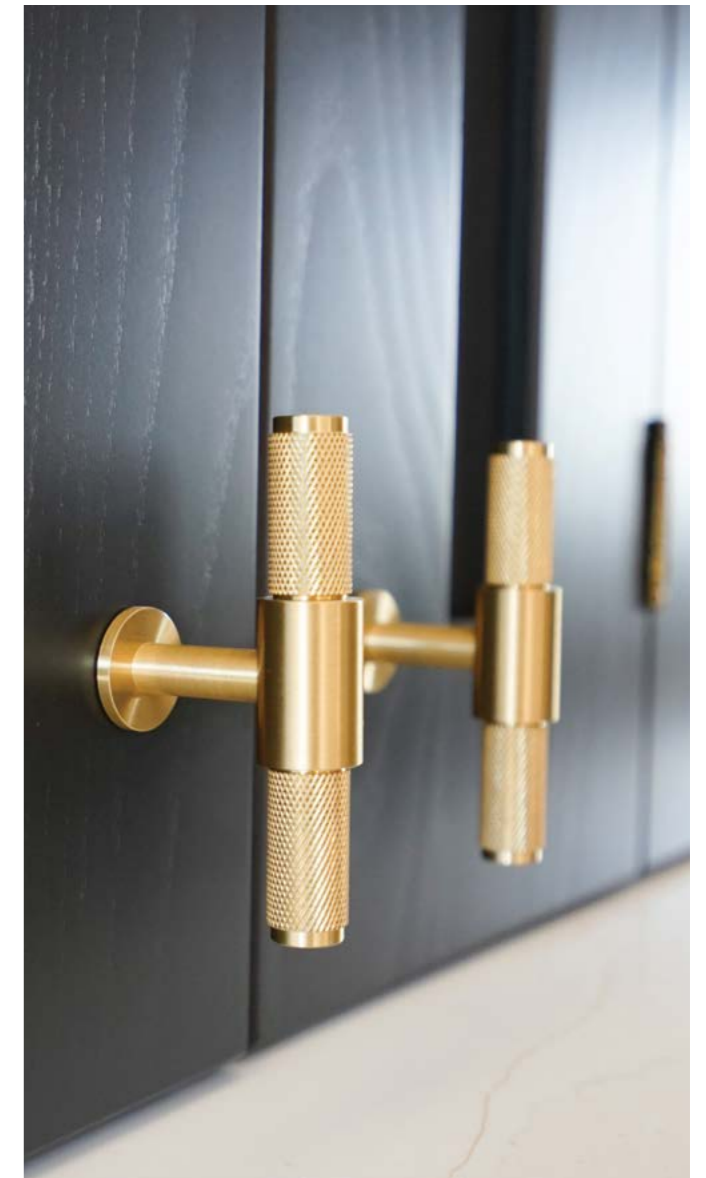

A little more pared back than Oakley, Bramham's inframe design nods to the shaker-style principles of disciplined design, with a less-is-more approach.

Designed to suit any style or period of architecture, Bramham exudes a minimal, neutral aesthetic that still nods clearly to its British heritage roots. Bramham's beautifully designed cabinet skirting can be specified to really finish the look and give the cabinetry a chunkier stance.

Complete with solid wood internal drawers, Bramham exudes British luxury.

We have known of Daval for a number of years and their reputation as quality kitchen and bedroom designers and manufacturers has grown from strength to strength, so they were the obvious choice to work with.

Pembroke

The modern classic. Pembroke is a premium shaker style kitchen that blends traditional style with a contemporary twist centred around the stunning visible woodgrain running through solid ash.

The perfect middle-ground for creating a kitchen that balances traditional design with a contemporary aesthetic, Pembroke cabinetry features flush joints for a more minimal finish.

Combine heritage colours like dark green or navy blue on an island, with a lighter palette across the perimeter cabinetry to create a truly stunning space.

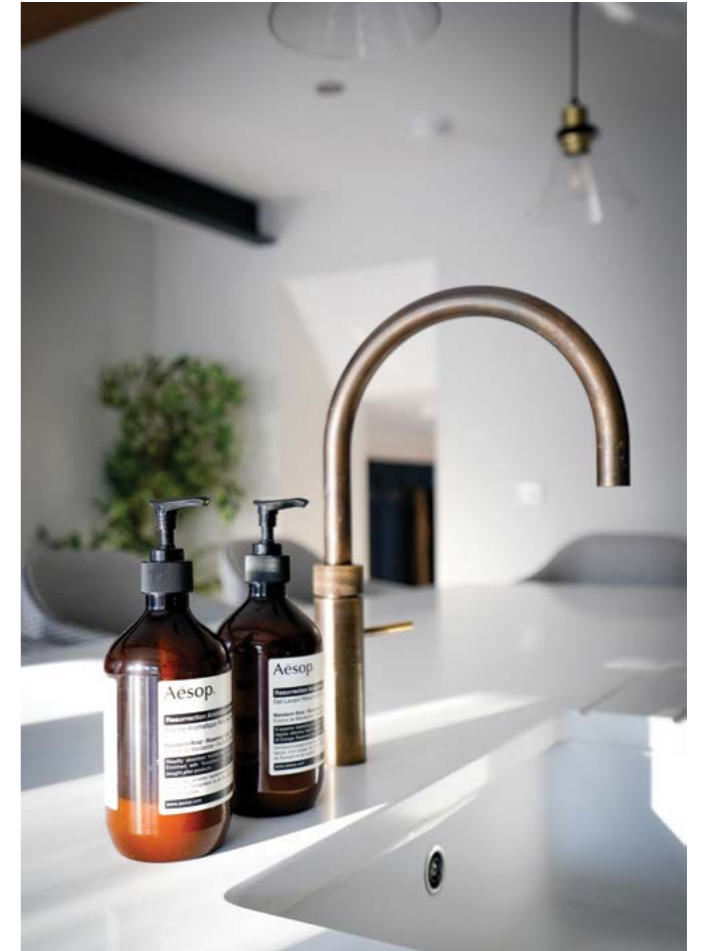

22-26 Images show Pembroke cabinetry in Forest Green and Putty.

“ Pembroke is sympathetic to the architecture and features of our renovated farmhouse, while bringing a delightfully contemporary twist to the space. The wood grain through the cabinetry is beautiful and the Forest Green and Putty combination sets off our exposed stonework perfectly.

Linton

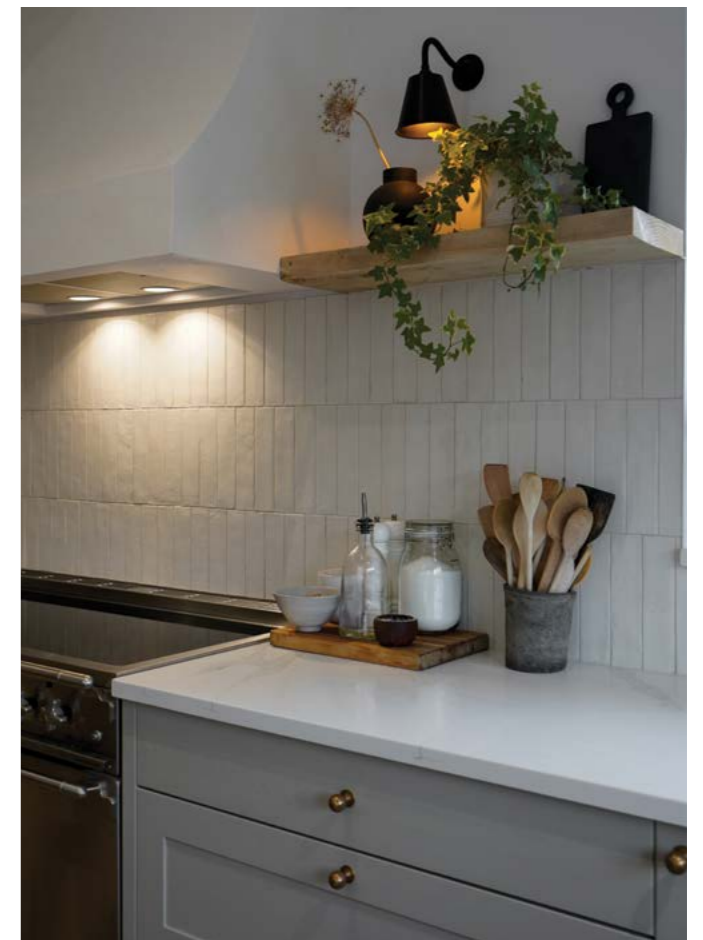

Stylish yet subtle, Linton is a contemporary take on shaker style cabinetry that perfectly blends modern design with traditional features.

32-35 Images show Linton cabinetry in Charcoal and Fossil.

Featuring a slimmer stile and rail on the doors for a more delicate aesthetic, Linton can be specified with stunning accessories including integrated oak serving trays and chopping boards.

For a kitchen scheme, pair Linton with design elements such as open shelving with feature brackets to break a run of cupboards and achieve a light and airy feel, or incorporate a day pantry with integrated storage and a classic oak interior.

Farnley

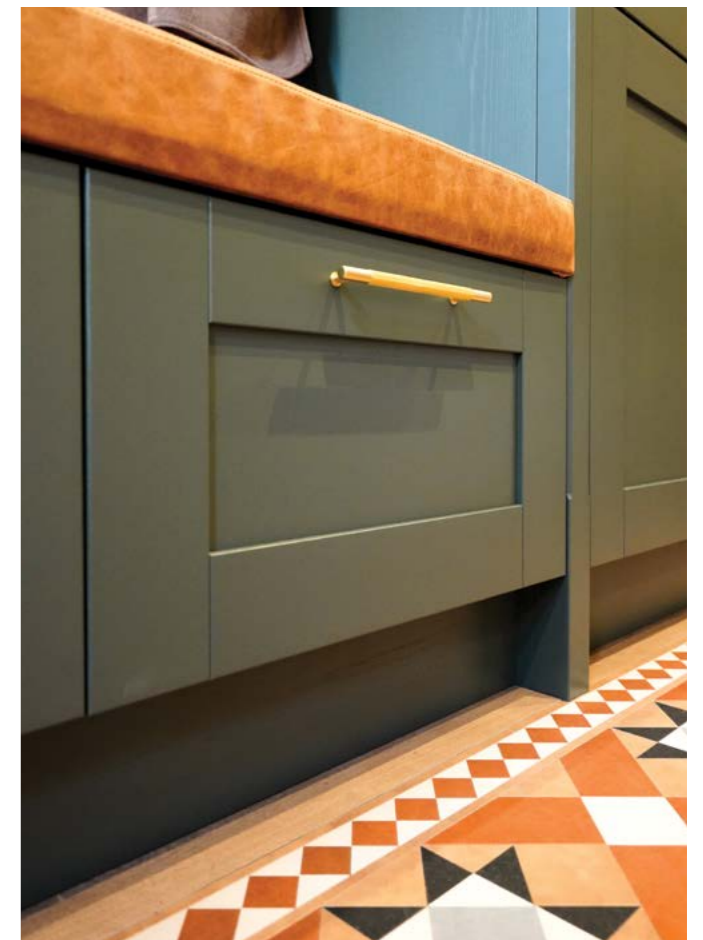

The one we all think of when we envisage a classic shaker-style kitchen. Made from solid timber with a shaker profile, Farnley is a kitchen that will stand the test of time but never age.

Exuding character and charm, Farnley is available in all our painted colours, or its natural oak finish. Play with a scheme like Forest Green and tan accents to create a true heritage feel.

40-45 Images show Farnley cabinetry in Forest Green.

Grassington

Sometimes it's the classics that make us happy. A classic shaker style kitchen like Grassington in a timeless, neutral finish will stand the test of time while remaining beautifully fresh in design.

Hand painted, Grassington features an attention to detail that is second to none with a one-piece drawer unit, flush joints on the door and a quarter round bead inside the frame.

Choose Grassington's delicate cornice to finish off the look and highlight your attention to design detail.

46-49 Images show Grassington cabinetry in Porcelain.

Amberley

Amberley delivers an air of understated grandeur. Add your own stylish twists with curved profile or open feature units available in Natural Oak and our hand painted finishes.

With all doors raised and fielded and made from renewable timber sources, Amberley will transform the design of your home.

Meltham

Named after a small countryside village in Yorkshire, Meltham takes elegant lines and shaker design as its style cues to create a country-style kitchen that is available in five different shades and perfectly combines aesthetics with affordability.

A paint effect foil finish and a slight chamfered detail on the inside of the door frame give Meltham its beautiful finishing touch. Mix in some glass fronted cabinets and simple round handles for a kitchen you can call home.

52-53 Image shows Meltham cabinetry in Dove Grey and Charcoal.

Mayfair

Mayfair is a stunning, contemporary slab door that adds understated style with its super-matt finish. Choose lighter shades paired with matt black hardware to create a Scandinavian inspired look, or opt for a deeper shade such as Marine Blue and Hunter Green with brushed gold hardware for a more heritage aesthetic.

Renzo

Contemporary, urban and with a slightly industrial vibe, Renzo is a kitchen with a conscience.

Choose from a charred Japanese wood effect door with a subtle metallic accent, a character Oak effect that hints of distressed wooden planks, or a raw textured concrete effect for an earthy finish.

Kind to the environment without compromising on style, every Renzo door is made from 100% recycled wood and centres around a deeply textured aesthetic.

Salcombe

Salcombe's calm and contemporary style is inspired by the great British coastline and days at the beach collecting driftwood and watching the sea lap against the shore.

With a prominent textured wood finish, Salcombe combines the best of a painted effect kitchen with the simplicity of a slab door to create a warm and homely feel.

Choose from four different colours with a choice of door types for that added personal touch.

74-79 Images show Salcombe cabinetry in Charcoal with Dove Grey accent cabinetry.

Langham

Texture is the word of the day with Langham. It's choice of stone and silk effect finishes create a dramatic focal point that delivers an industrial yet rural aesthetic.

House your ovens at eye level in a central bank of cabinetry finished in Basalt Stone or Slate Stone and create the feel of a slab of textured rock.

80-82 Images show Langham cabinetry in Slate.

The texture and depth of Langham in Slate has such impact, and has helped us create a stunningly beautiful kitchen for our home. We receive so many compliments on the design, and it has completely transformed the way we use the space.
